“ I have known Saroj Amin since I first arrived in Kalamazoo in 1967. She and Mahendrabhai were not just dear friends to us but they were like family. Just 10 days before Saroj passed away, she called us from India, first checking in to see how we are doing and asking me if I needed anything from there. That was who she was-always thinking of others, and always very caring. The news of her passing left me deeply shocked and saddened. Saroj and mahendrabhai were pillars of support, not only for us but for so many in the Kalamazoo community. She has touched countless lives with her kindness and generosity. I feel truly great full to have known them both, and they will be missed for the rest of our lives.
